Moodplay interactive musical experience

A. Allik, M. Barthet, G. Fazekas, J. Woodbridge

Moodplay is an installation where music and lighting effects are collectively controlled by members of the audience to express desired emotions. The interaction is based on our Mood Conductor participatory performance system that uses web, data visualisation and affective computing technologies. We explore how artificial intelligence, semantic web and synthesis can be combined to provide new personalised and immersive musical experiences. Participants can choose degrees of energy and pleasantness to shape the music played using our web app accessible via the above URL or QR code.
